MAIN DRIVING WHEELS

HURRYING wheels, thundering wheels. Wheels that have made it possible for Canada to grow in strength.

Today those wheels—the driving wheels of Canada's railways—are setting the pace for the war effort. They haul raw materials to humming war industries and rush away the finished tools of batte. They move food and fuel for the loane front and the fighting front. They speed civilians on essential business, hasten troops to camps, embarkation points and on leave. It's Canada's big war job. A job that only railway wheels can do. A job in which an army of 150,000 railway workers, men and women, is in the fight for Canada . . . shop crews and train crews, yard workers, section hands, telegraphers, signal men and office workers, a multitude of men and women in a multitude of jobs. They are making the giant wheels turn faster and faster.

From coast to coast in Canada, we-your railways-are rolling in the service of freedom, and our lines to and in the United States have linked the war efforts of two great sister nations.

The railway wheels are driv-ing, in war as in peace, for Canada.

Post-War Possibilities

DISCUSSION OF POST-WAR PLANS at the recent mid-continent research conference held in Minneapolis, Minn., have once more drawn attention to the possibilities of greater industrial development on the prairies. Premier Stuart S. Garson, of Mauitoba, one of those who represented Western Canada at the conference, reported that there had been talk of the utilization of the rich lignite deposits of Manitoba and Sastachewan, and of North and South Dakota, in the building up of a great chemical industry. He also said that the Manitoba white poplar might some day be used as a raw material for manufacturing rayon and other chemical products. The importance of Western Canada in the air routes of the future were also discussed at the conference, where it was pointed out that the most direct routes between many points on this continent and important part. of Europe and Asia, ite directly across the Canadian Prairies.

Because of the distance from the Prairie Provinces to some of the large centres of population, many of their industrial potentialities have never been fully developed. Sodium sulphate deposits of Saskatchewan have all been developed, some to great advantage. However, it is hoped that after the war there will be much greater expansion in the manufacture of the products of raw materials produced on the Prairies. The opening of the Alaska Highway has given access to a land rich in minerals and oil and it is likely that after the war there will be great activity in this region. There has already been considerable development in oil wells in the vicinity of Fort MacMurray, and there is promise of many more enterprises of this nature.

process of manufacturing synthetic rubber has aroused much linerest, and so a source of industrial alcohol, which next to water is also a source of industrial alcohol, which next to water is the most important liquid used in industry. The use of wheat in both these processes offers many possibilities for future industrial development here. Wheat is also suggested as a basis for plastic materials, which are to be widely used after the war. Thus it appears that with the coming of peace, there may be a period of interesting and extensive industrial expansion in the West.

CANNING IS A "MUST" IN 1943

This third year of war means, as many Canadian housewives already know, shortages in certain groups of food commodities which we have always been accustomed to purchase without any difficulty. She must augment the steadily dwinding supplies of canned fruits still obtainable from her grocer with fruit by herself from this seasor's rop. Many have done this for years, but this year it will be necessary obtained for the purpose. The Dominion Government urges Canadian housewives to can fruit this year instead of making it into jam or jelly, as the latter requires more sugar to make. Experts state that three pounds of sugar will make six quarts of canned fruits, whereas three pounds of sugar will make only two quarts of jam or jelly. More food value is also conAnalysis for sugar for canning nurposes is necessary in order that Application for sugar for canning purposes is necessary in order that the Sugar Administration of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board can pro-vide the sugar needed. The "application for canning sugar" is to be found in the new ration book. The form must be filled in and returned to the nearest local Ration Board before April 15th.

Boys Being Well Looked After At Taplow House in England
A letter was recently received by Miss S. G. Hinchelifer, Toronto, from a tencher of handicraft in Taplow Begland. As this is Canada's own Red Cross hospital, the following from Miss Sylvia Shinming's letter has special interest:
"I feel it would be of great interest to the people in Canada to know exactly what is being done for the boys. As for the attention they get in the hospital it honestly couldn't be better. Besides five of us teaching handicraft shere are three Red Cross grifs who do nothing but visit the patients, write their letters, hand out fruit juice to the sick and really take the place of mothers. There is a movie twice a week and a lot of the bed patients are able to get to it.

other boys on active service, you do something that will benefit you too. You save money. It's really a mistake to say that you "buy" a Victory Bond. You are not buying anything. You are saving money, and putting your savings where they will be absolutely safe, and where they earn money for you. (Each $100.00 Victory Bond earns $3.00 a year-3% interest.) You are likely producing more, and earning more. You can save more. You are not buying some things; you can't get them. You are buying less of many things-they're rationed. You can't help saving more. See to it that your savings are kept intact-earmarked for things you will need when the war ends. You will have to replace things that are worn out. You will want a lot of things. Money saved and invested in Victory Bonds will provide cash to pay for them.
